2. ABOUT M.Sc. (APPLIED NUTRITION) & M.Sc. (SPORTS NUTRITION)

Vision

To create scientifically trained human resources in the area of Applied Nutrition and Sports Science who will make a positive contribution to society.

Mission

To equip post-graduate students with knowledge and skills in multi-disciplinary area of Applied Nutrition and Sports Nutrition, thereby enabling them to contribute in the field of nutrition and/or sports nutrition.

M.Sc. (Applied Nutrition)

The ICMR-National Institute of Nutrition (NIN) has reached a remarkable milestone of completing 105 years of exemplary service to the nation with special emphasis on overcoming the nutritional deficiency disorders. The NIN looks forward to recast its focus with a renewed commitment not just to nutritional science, but also for building a healthy nation. Systematic training programmes have been initiated to impart training in the current concepts of nutritional science and their application for promoting public health. This was initiated by introducing training programmes and certificate courses. A nine-month M.Sc. (Applied Nutrition) Postgraduate Programme was initiated in 1968 to create skilled human resources in nutritional sciences to address the nutritional problems in India. This course was initially open to sponsored candidates, and later considering the usefulness of this programme and demand in the market, it was upgraded to a Full-time Two-year M.Sc. programme in Applied Nutrition in the year 2009. The students who passed out from the course are employed in teaching and research positions across the globe and continue to contribute in disseminating knowledge about nutritional sciences as young ambassadors of the National Institute of Nutrition. From the academic year 2024-25 onwards, this course runs in affiliation to Academy of Scientific and Innovative Research (AcSIR), Ghaziabad, Uttar Pradesh.

M.Sc. (Sports Nutrition)

Research in the area of Sports Nutrition was initiated in 1983 under the Energy Metabolism Division, which was subsequently developed as the Department of Work Physiology and Sports Nutrition at ICMR-National Institute of Nutrition (NIN). After three decades of research, consultancy, and extension in the specialized area of Sports Nutrition, viewing the importance of sports science for performance and growth, the department started the Two-year M.Sc. (Sports Nutrition) course supported by the Indian Institute of Sports Science & Research (IISSR), Ministry of Youth Affairs & Sports (MYAS), Govt. of India and established MYAS - NIN Department of Sports Science in the year 2017. This course is the first ever course of its kind in the country. 2.4 EXAMINATION & EVALUATION PROCEDURE FOR COURSE-WORK

Continuous evaluation procedure will be carried-out throughout the semester through class-tests, assignments, seminars, mid-term and end-semester examinations, etc.

- End-semester examination shall have maximum weightage of 40%.
- For laboratory courses, the students shall have to submit laboratory reports to the course coordinator.

Depending on nature of the laboratory work, the coordinator can opt for a viva-voce at the end.

Grading System to be followed for the course work:

Letter Grade	Performance	Numerical Value
A+	Outstanding	10
A	Excellent	9
B+	Very Good	8
B	Good	7
C+	Fair	6
C	Poor	4
F	Very Poor	2
I*	Incomplete*	0
S	Satisfactory (for audit course)	Not Applicable
X	Un-Satisfactory (for audit course)	Not Applicable

* “I” grade shall be given to students who have (i) Not Attended Classes; and/or (ii) Not been evaluated. This implies repeating the full course and appearing in the examination so that it could be considered towards final grade calculation.

SGPA (Semester Grade Point Average) = {Sum of (Course credit x Numerical value of course grade)} / Total course credits earned in the semester

CGPA (Cumulative Grade Point Average) = {Sum of (Course credit in all passed courses x Numerical value of course grade)} / Cumulative credits earned

A brief philosophy of AcSIR indicating the “Award of Grades in Courses” is given as

Annexure – I

For Masters’ and PG-Diploma programs a student needs to have a SGPA ≥ 6.0 in each semester and a CGPA ≥ 6.5 from second semester onwards for continuation.

- The minimum grade point to be earned to pass any individual subject is 6.0.
- The SGPA and CGPA shall be calculated to two decimal places.
- Distinction# ≥ 8.00 CGPA; First Class ≥ 7.00 CGPA; Pass Marks ≥ 6.50 CGPA
- CGPA to %age conversion formula: %age of marks = (CGPA – 0.5) x 10 (Master’s program)

The award of Distinction would be considered only if all the courses are passed in one attempt.

Conducting a “Re-test”:

A re-test can only be taken once for:

- a) Passing a course i.e. when the student has failed
- b) Improvement in SGPA/CGPA

Final grades obtained after taking the re-test shall only be considered valid and mentioned on the final grade card. The re-test can be taken on payment of any additional examination fee as prescribed by the administration.

Students desirous of taking a re-test shall have to give their request in writing.

2.5 EXAMINATION & EVALUATION OF DISSERTATION

Dissertation

- a. The Oral Examination Board (OEB) for each student shall be constituted by the Director of the laboratory on the recommendation of the Institute Coordinator and the dissertation supervisor.

The OEB shall have a minimum of three members:

- One examiner from same field of research,
 - One examiner from areas other than the candidate’s field of research and
 - The dissertation supervisor(s).
- b. The candidate, at the earliest, would be allowed to submit the thesis two weeks before the completion of the fourth semester (middle of April) with recommendation of the dissertation supervisor.
 - c. The last date for submission of the Master’s Dissertation is 15th May of every calendar year.
 - d. The candidate shall present his dissertation work in the colloquium in presence of the OEB members.
 - e. The notification of the open seminar would be circulated by the dissertation supervisor in consultation with members of the OEB.
 - f. The candidate is considered to have passed the oral examination if all the OEB members consider that the performance of the candidate is satisfactory with award of grades C+ or above.
 - g. Based on the presentation and responses to the questions raised during oral examination, the OEB can even recommend the resubmission of the dissertation (only once) after incorporating the suggestions made by the OEB.

- h. In the rescheduled oral examination, the OEB must declare the candidate either to have passed or failed with award of appropriate grades. There shall not be any recommendation for further oral examination.
- i. The grading system to be followed during evaluation of thesis work for Masters is illustrated below:

Letter Grade	Performance	Numerical Value
A+	Outstanding	10
A	Excellent	9
B+	Very Good	8
B	Good	7
C+	Fair	6
X	Unsatisfactory

2.6 AWARD OF DEGREE, PROVISION OF REAPPEARING & ATTENDANCE

 - (ii) No disciplinary action should be pending against the student.
 - (iii) The student should have earned minimum credits (i.e., total credits offered in the Program - number of credits, not exceeding six credits).
 - (iv) Distinction ≥ 8.00 CGPA; First class ≥ 7.00 CGPA and Pass marks ≥ 6.50 CGPA

The above degree will be awarded with distinction, if a student has earned a minimum CGPA of ≥ 8 with a pass in all subjects in the first attempt.

The maximum permissible period for completing the program is minimum 2 years and maximum 3 years from the date of admission. The Merit list shall be prepared on the basis of the marks obtained in the Entrance Test. In case of a tie of marks in the Entrance Test, the total percentage of the marks in the qualifying examination (up to two decimal places) will be taken into consideration for fixing the merit of candidates. If the entrance test marks and the percentage of marks in the qualifying examination are equal, the age of the candidate will be taken into consideration and older candidates will be placed higher in the merit list.

AWARD OF GRADES IN COURSES

Brief philosophy of awarding the academic letter grades in courses

$$\text{CGPA} = \frac{\text{Summation of } C_i G_i}{\text{Summation of } C_i}$$

Where C_i represents credit points and G_i represents grade points.

Based on the philosophy, letter grade does not allow the fractions. The grades have to be within the ranges of A+, A, B+, B, C+ in order to pass the course. Please note that at AcSIR “C” is a fail grade. Therefore, while mapping the absolute marks onto the letter grades the investigator in-charge has to be sure what grade he wants to award. One student may get 55 or 58 (out of 100) as his/ her actual marks, but the onus is on the Instructor to declare whether the candidate is C+ or C. The Instructor has the liberty to declare 58 as C+ and he has to be convinced that the candidate deserves a C+ grade. Likewise, the investigator in-charge has to assign A+, A etc based on the performance of the students in the course. Ideally, the instructor has to draw a histogram based on the performance (absolute marks) of the students in the course. Then he has to decide what should be the minimum pass mark for that course. He/ she has to then decide on a range (say minimum + X marks, X being 6 or 7 or 8 marks) and assign that range as C+, the immediate upper range (again he/she has to decide the range based on the trend of the histogram) should be assigned a letter grade of B and so on. If the instructor sees that nobody is truly outstanding in the histogram, he need not even award A+ in that course for that particular batch of students. The Instructor is free to choose the minimum pass marks (and hence the pass grade is mapped there) depending on the standard of the examinations/ assignments and the standard of performance of the students in the course.

The numerical interpretation of the letter grade has only relation to the calculation of SGPA and CGPA. But letter grade cannot be interpreted as a fractional number. For example, if an Instructor has awarded B+ grade to somebody, then the student earns full 8.0 grade point on that course. The grade point cannot be 8.2 or 7.8. The grade point will be multiplied by the corresponding credit of the course and then SGPA or CGPA will be calculated based on the formula given above.

Whenever a large number of student's grades in a course fall on either extreme of the spectrum, they shall be discussed/reviewed by the concerned course coordinator and AcSIR Laboratory Coordinator in consultation with the Laboratory Director, if required.
